The New Typewriter OLIVER No. 7

WE ANNOUNCE AN AMAZING MODEL—The OLIVER No. 7—a typewriter of superexcellence, with automatic devices and refinements that mark the zenith of typewriter progress. A marvel of beauty, speed, and easy action. Typewriting efficiency raised to the nth power.

The OLIVER No. 7 embodies all previous Oliver innovations and new self-acting devices never before seen on any typewriter. A leap in advance which places The Oliver ten years ahead of its time. So smooth in action, so light to the touch, so easy to run, that experts are amazed. A model that means to the typist delightful ease of operation.

model that means a higher standard of typewriting, longer and better service.

The No. 7 is now on exhibit and sale at all Oliver Branches and Agencies throughout the United States.

The new model has more improvements, refinements and new features than we can even enumerate here.

The "cushioned key-board with anchor keys" and the new automatic features mean less work for the hands, less strain on the eyes, less manual and mental effort.

With all of these masterly mechanical improvements we have made the machine more beautiful and symmetrical. From every standpoint The OLIVER No. 7 attains superlative excellence.

Nothing you could wish for has been omitted. The new devices, refinements, improvements and conveniences found on the No. 7 represent an enormous outlay and vastly increase its value—the price has not been advanced one penny.

We shall even continue to force our popular 17-Cents-a-Day purchase plan, the same as on previous Oliver models.

The OLIVER No. 7, equipped with the famous Printype, if desired, without extra charge.

You owe it to yourself to see the new machine before you buy any typewriter at any price. Note its beauty, speed and easy action, its wonderful automatic devices. Try it on any work that is ever done on typewriters. Try it on many kinds of work that no other typewriter will do.

It is a significant fact that the typewriter that introduced such epoch-making innovations as visible writing, Printype, etc., should be the first to introduce automatic methods of operation.

THINGS THAT MAKE A TOWN NO. 4

(By REV. G. S. WATSON.)
ITS PUBLIC SPIRIT

There are few things that cheer and inspire a new comer to a town as much as "Its Public Spirit." We have seen some leaders of industries grow rich in sleepy and unprogressive towns and after their money has been made, they have moved away into more progressive and public spirited centers. We have seen other cities, whose ambition has been not only to promote business, but to afford attractive and healthful homes and educational and recreational facilities, and when industrial leaders and other business men have secured for themselves independent incomes they have counted it an honor as well as a pleasure to settle down and spend the remainder of their lives in the towns where they have made their money. "Good business facilities will draw people, but only public spirit and attractive surroundings will hold them after they have secured a business that produces an income sufficient for them to live elsewhere if they so desire.

The South may truly boast of its unrivalled hospitality, and its home loving instinct.—we wish that we might truly say that the South were as free from prejudice and as public spirited as the West. We have previously made editorial mention of Los Angeles, and wish here only to note that a few years ago when the city voted upon a bond issue of three and one half million dollars for the purpose of constructing a complete system of macadamized roads, the bond issue was not only carried but was carried by a vote of six to one.

Too frequently in the smaller towns our votes are influenced by prejudice and selfish interest. For instance, there is a time in the life of all growing towns, when, in the interest of future growth and prosperity, certain municipal or town ordinances (such as a stock law requiring people to keep their live stock off the street,) must be passed. At such times there are often those who not only oppose ordinances made in the interest of the future of the town, and for the good of the greatest number of citizens but who even show an antagonistic and resentful spirit toward the members of the town board making the ordinance.

When Rockcastle County voted on the good roads question more than a year ago, in our judgment the bond issue was defeated not because there were not sufficient number in Rockcastle who believed in good roads, but because many voters were so lacking in public spirit that they allowed prejudice and petty jealousies of one kind and another to determine their way of voting. We do not think that such a thing would occur again.

Of late we have been in correspondence with a number of cities through their various Chambers of Commerce or Commercial Clubs and regret that lack of space forbids a detailed discussion of the public spirited enterprises of all these cities.

Some months ago, we were passing thru the city of Hamilton, Ohio, and, as the train pulled into the station, our attention was drawn to a large, and attractively painted sign board, bearing the words: "HAMILTON, OHIO LEADS IN MANUFACTURING: FREE FACTORY SITES WRITE THE CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE. GROWTH 47 1/2 PER CENT. POPULATION 45,279." We followed the directions on the sign board, wrote the Chamber of Commerce, and received interesting literature, which convinced us that Hamilton was what it claimed to be, "A proven city, with a proposition." We were not so much impressed by the fact that Hamilton had numerous large factories, or that the city made 80 per cent of the world's safes, but by the fact that most of the city's great institutions started in Hamilton small.

As a city, Hamilton appreciates, legislates and provides for its institutions. It is truly a public spirited city. Another evidence of this is that in less than four months, the people of Hamilton donated $225,000 for public enterprises, $150,000 being for the Y. M. C. A., which has a membership larger than any city in the U. S. of twice the size of Hamilton. Hamilton was the first American city to establish and operate all public utilities.

Another public spirited and progressive Ohio city, and one that has faith in its own people and institutions is Toledo. Here is the Toledian's Creed, which is seen posted in the cars, shops and stores of Toledo.

I BELIEVE IN TOLEDO, the City of REAL VALUES—the Nations natural gateway of commerce and travel, in the heart of great resources and markets with unsurpassed railway, dock and harbor facilities, and the near centre of population of the United States. I believe in Toledo, the City of REAL OPPORTUNITIES—with its great institutions of art, education, religion and business; a "Going Concern" in industry, government and social uplift, a Home city with rest and recreation for all, by river and lake, where it is worth while to live, rear children, invest money and life. I believe in Toledo, the City of REAL PROGRESS—modern in municipal equipment and spirit, aggressive in commercial activity and achievement, with inspiring visions and plans for tomorrow, and a big chance for every man."

After reading "Louisville Today," the large and well gotten up booklet issued by the Louisville Commercial Club, we cannot but feel that the work of this club is much more public spirited and less selfish than the Louisville press, as judged by the first newspaper attacks on the proposed Boone High Way. There is no denying of the fact that, during the last ten years, Louisville has shown remarkable public spirit, in providing most generously for the needs, comforts and enjoyment of its citizens. The present fine library system, consisting of a main library and eight branches represents an expenditure of more than $1,000,000,—and is a credit to the literary taste and public spirit of many of Louisville's citizens, as well as to Andrew Carnegie.

We are told by a competent authority that the new $1,000,000, City Hospital of Louisville, in point of arrangement and design, is unexcelled in the country. The isolation ward, according to Dr. J. Y. Brown, an eminent St. Louis surgeon, and former superintendent of the St. Louis City Hospital, is a wonder as regards the manner in which a child with the measles can be prevented from contracting diphtheria or other diseases. Here is an institution where the poor of the city may obtain the best treatment under the most favorable conditions. We are confident that the money has been well spent, and we believe that Louisville has set the pace along this line, for other American cities.

While many cities in the U. S. boast of their beautiful parks, in point of natural beauty, Cherokee Park of Louisville surpasses that of any other city on the continent.

In our judgment the Louisville Commercial Club deserves special commendation for its interest and activity in educational and agricultural work thruout the State. In the interest of rural school improvement, its Educational Committee has spent $3,000,—and a guarantee fund of $1,500 was made by the club and the Publicity League to secure the Kentucky Educational Association for Louisville.

Among the most progressive and public spirited of Kentucky's smaller cities is Winchester, a city that is rapidly pushing to the front. Here is a city that wants more factories and more good citizens and it is getting them both. The city has a standing offer of five years' exemption from taxation for all manufacturing establishments.

In view of Winchester's live commercial club, (the largest in the State, outside of Louisville, it is claimed) we are not surprised that its manufactures are so varied and extensive.

What of Rockcastle's future? Are its progressive citizens willing to band themselves together not only in the interest of developing its material resources, but also in the interest of making it a place of increasing attractiveness to live? We have confidence in Rockcastle's leaders. What other counties have done Rockcastle can do. We are told that Rockcastle was the first of the ten counties in the State to be selected to receive State aid in the organization and management of its girls' canning clubs this year. Why not take the lead in some other good causes? We can do it, if we will.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart Originator of Moonlight Schools

Being interested in everything that tends to the upbuilding of our town and county interests, our Commercial Club, thru its secretary, wrote the originator of Moonlight Schools in Rowan county asking for information on the subject. Mrs. Stewart was Superintendent of schools for two terms and during that period established "Moonlight" schools, so called because held at night and could be attended when the moon shown, at the various school houses, most of the teachers volunteering their services. The purpose was to teach every person in the county, no matter of what age, to read and write. The undertaking was a success beyond expectations. Many students between the ages of 50 and 80 years were eager attendants and the record shows that now but 23 persons in that county are unable to read and write; there being some 1200 or more before the work was undertaken.

Mrs. Stewart is now on a lecture tour of the State. She lectured at Danville Monday evening last.

Many people thruout the state, favor the movement to nominate and elect this great educator for the position of State Superintendent of Schools.

Below is copy of reply to Commercial Club's letter under date of Louisville, Ky., March 24th 1914:

Dear Mr. Maret:— It seems very unfortunate that such good letters as yours should have to wait so long for a reply, but I have been traveling over the State and since have been ill and this is my first opportunity to reply. I appreciate your interest sincerely.

Replying to your question will say that the only pamphlet now issued is that of the United States Bureau of Education Bulletin No. 20. I shall have a book out on the subject in the early summer entitled "His Mark" and dealing with the blighting power of illiteracy and the remedy for it.

It is entirely possible to conduct this work in any county. We shall soon have organized a Kentucky Illiteracy Commission for the organization of the entire State for moonlight schools. I feel that we can count on you and the Mt. Vernon Commercial Club to see that your section comes to the front in this matter.

Thanking you for your interest and encouragement and congratulating you upon the evidences of intelligent boosting of your section which I see on your envelope and letterhead, I am

Yours sincerely,
CORA WILSON STEWART.

Let the Green-Green Insurance law be a good law or a bad one as the case may be, who has ever seen an expression from our city dailies, editorially, for or against? Just wait until the matter is adjusted and watch the Courier Journal howl "I told you so."

SPEAKER Clark and majority leader Underwood have made a mess of it in opposing Wilson's policy in Canal tolls repeal bill. Both will be relegated to back seats. Congressman Sherley, of Louisville, looms largely upon the horizon.

CALEB Powers says he feels his mind changing and may yet decide to make the race for Congress. The majority of the voters say they felt their change when they voted for him the last time, two years ago.

WILSON. Who is Wilson? Ask Clark or Underwood.

TO THE BAPTIST OF ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

Sunday April 12th has been set apart as Missionary day in all the Baptist Sunday Schools of the South land and as representative of the Mission Board of Rockcastle Association I am appealing to the Twenty Seven Hundred Baptist of our Association to make a special effort to make as liberal an offering as they possibly can on that day. We also invite our friends who are not members of our churches or Sunday schools to aid in this noble work. Statistics show that more than one million foreigners come to our country every year, we are trying to give every one of them a copy of The Bible printed in their own language, besides, the opening of the Panama Canal necessitates our sending Missionaries to that field unless our brethren do heroic work we will not be able to meet all of our obligations some of our good sisters have promised to give all the eggs laid by their hens on Sundays during the month of April. We trust others will do likewise. Lets all rally the forces and have the largest contributions to Missions to report in our history.

Pay in your money to the nearest church, or you can mail direct to W. D. Powell, Secretary of Missions, Louisville, Ky., or if you prefer you can mail to me and I will forward it for you.

"Millionaire" Police Make Broadway Raid

DETECTIVE DISGUISED AS SPENDER

Broker Held On Bribery Charge As Sequel of Arrest

Under red ink box car letters running across entire top of page the New York Journal of March 18th publishes a column in connection with arrest made in that city by detective William O. Jones. Mr. Jones is a son of Mrs. Mahala Jones of this place and had experience in the U. S. Navy before he joined the police force of the big city some years back in which position he rapidly rose to a responsible place in the mounted police arm of the service where he gave eminent satisfaction. A few months since he was transferred to Inspector Dwyers squad, detective department in which he is making good.

"Posing as a millionaire from the West, with nothing to do but spend money, detective Jones, attired in swaggar clothes, today raided the suite of Miss Laura Carlton, twenty three, a pretty blonde, in the Albany, a fashionable apartment house on fifty first street and Broadway. Miss Carlton was taken to sixty eighth street police station, charged with selling liquor without license.

Miss Carlton's suite, the police say, has been under surveillance for some time. The police were unable to gain an entrance until Jones, posing as a millionaire, secured an introduction to Miss Carlton. He made several visits to the place, but was unable to secure evidence until today.

According to Detective Jones and Dolan, McQuade offered each of them $5. on the steps of the police station if they would suppress certain evidence against Miss Carlton.

McQuade was placed under arrest charged with attempted bribery.

Country Life Conference.

A Country Life Conference is to be held in Louisville, April 7th to 13, to be participated in by farmers, business men and others who are interested in rural uplift.

In the coming conference at Louisville the farmers will be told something about the benefits of co-operation in the handling of farm products, such as poultry, eggs, vegetables, fruits; in the breeding and selling of livestock; in the operation of creameries and in other ways. Some of the leaders in such movements will attend the conference and will recite their experiences for the benefit of those who are seeking information. There will be discussions of various matters affecting rural life, such as roads, churches, schools, sanitary improvements and social conditions.

This conference is merely a continuation of the annual meetings which have been held for many years under the title "The Conference for Education in the South." This fact stamps the gathering at Louisville as a meeting of nation-wide importance and one of such scope and value as Kentuckians not often are privileged to attend.

We hope that as many as possible of the publicspirited citizens of Rockcastle will attend this convention. Rates to Louisville will be on for the occasion.

The people will not only be told how to do things—they will be shown how.

President Wilson was invited to be present at this conference, but has declined the invitation on account of pressing duties at Washington. He said that the temptation to accept was great inasmuch as he considered the meeting one of the greatest importance and interest. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity of learning about up-to-date and successful business methods.

GOVERNOR THATCHER'S LECTURE.

Governor M. H. Thatcher will deliver his famous lecture on the Panama Canal, under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Mt Vernon, April 10th, 1914, at 7:30 p.m. at Chapel Hall, Graded School Building. Governor Thatcher's service in the Canal Zone was of great length, and he is perfectly familiar with the history of the promotion and construction of the canal the greatest engineering feat known to the world, the work of American Engineers and the realization of the dream of centuries. As all know the Governor enjoys the distinction of being an eloquent speaker of the entertaining type and an orator of wide reputation. We are fortunate in securing him as one of the speakers of this, our first year of the lecture course for Mt. Vernon, and it is to be hoped that the citizens of Rockcastle County will take advantage of being informed on a subject of so much interest to all Americans and by a man so well equipped.

LOCAL

Hello Climax.

Easter Post Cards at Fish's.

Co-operate and assist—not criticize and find fault.

Industrialism, as it changes and betters human environments, is the true civilizing agent.

"Co operation" is the law of life and growth (Motto of Mt. Vernon Commercial Club.)

No good, sensible, working bee listens to advice of a bee bug on the subject of business. How are you classified?

Men are under the domain of Natural Law as much as bees. Men succeed only by working with other men and for other men.

Mrs. Noaks, mother of John Noaks of Pine Hill, died Sunday.

To avoid unkind criticism: Say nothing. Be nothing. Do nothing.

Mrs. Hansel, of the Chestnut ridge section, mother of Jarvis Hansel, died Monday.

The post office here is first place that has been wired for the new electric light plant.

Round trip to Atlanta, $10.25, Oct. 4-5-6th, limited to Oct. 17th. Account of General Convention of Christ.

Round trip to Nashville $7.95, May 8th to 13th, limited to May 30th. Account of Southern Baptist Convention.

Low-Cuts, Clothing, Dry Goods, everything new to wear, arriving daily now at Sutton & McBee's.

W. T. Todd cordially invites you to inspect his up-to-date sanitary barber shop under Masonic building next Fish's corner.

The Commercial Club has brought out some good ideas which will be put in effect next week. Every citizen of Rockcastle will be interested therein.

When in town Saturday, drop in and have Cox & Wheelon give you a shave or hair cut and you will be a regular patron of that shop hereafter. Next door to postoffice.

Every one is invited to the Conference for Education next week. There are no fees, no membership dues,—only a move by a philanthropic body of men to uplift the conditions of human life.

W. H. Cottongim has been named as Postmaster at Livingston and Dannie Owens received the appointment at Brodhead. The appointments were made upon the recommendation of Senator James.

A. H. Hamlin has received his commission as Forest Commissioner for the county. The preservation of the forests is an important matter and the office held by Hamlin is one of more importance, than the general public will at first consider.

A point to consider, when you patronize the barber shop. What condition will the barber leave my face? If you have Cox & Wheelon do your work, there is never any trouble about a sore face. Next door to postoffice.

All are welcome to the Conference in Louisville and any county that fails to send representatives to this meeting—both men and women—is losing one of the greatest opportunities that has ever come to the State of Kentucky.

Let Rockcastle be well represented by a large delegation.

We are short our Brodhead correspondence this week, for the reason that our splendid reporter Mr. John Robins had to go to Stanford to have his little daughter, Mildred, operated upon. Dr. W. F. Carter took his little son Charles Hicks, along and he was operated upon at the same time. Drs. Brown and Southard performed the operations which were very successful.

For four years he was county judge of Rockcastle county, which has a republican majority of approximately 800, and he was elected by about 400 majority over his republican opponent, Cincinnati Enquirer.

To the many friends and relatives who were so kind to us in our bereavement, we extend our most sincere thanks. We can never forget any who showed us the least sympathy when we needed it so badly. May we be able to return all in some measure some time. Praying God's blessings rest heavily on each of us, while we can never be as we once were, we fear, but we shall never forget the many who were so kind and good to us.

MR. AND MRS. J. T. MEADOWS

One of the sadest deaths that has occurred in our town in many years, was that of little Ruby Meadows, which came at 8 o'clock last Saturday morning, following two weeks intense suffering from inflammatory rheumatism and other complications. On account of the serious illness of Mrs. Meadows, short services were held at the grave, instead of the home Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Allen of the Baptist church. Many of the relatives and friends of the sorrowing family were present, and as they looked upon the sweet placid little body in its white casket and surrounded by beautiful and fragrant flowers—yet no more beautiful or pure than the little face within—their hearts swelled in sympathy for the bereaved family. But let us not think of little Ruby as dead, but as living; not as a flower that has withered, but as one that is transplanted, and touched by a Divine hand, is blooming in richer color and sweeter fragrance than those of earth.

There is no death! The stars go down.

To rise upon some fairer shore; And bask in Heaven's jeweled crown.

They shine forever more.

The County Board of Education will meet next Tuesday.

Are you going to Louisville for the Southern Educational Conference; you can't afford to miss it.

If you wish to be shown how to do things in the very best way, attend the Southern Educational Conference to be held in Louisville, April 7-10th.

The Courier Journal of March 31st has an account of the Southern Educational Conference to be held in Louisville, April 7th to 10th. Read it and go, if possible.

The most disgusting creatures on earth are these know-it-alls who never do anything but spend their time criticising the fellow who is trying to do something in the world.

OPENING!

On Saturday, April 4th, 1914, I will have my spring opening of Millinery. Notions, etc., and would be glad to have you come in and see my stock of goods which you will find complete in every detail.

Very respectfully yours,

MRS. G. S. HIATT.

R. L. Jones, who recently visited his brother, Mrs. Mahala Jones, of this place, stopped off at New York to see his brother. W. A. Jones and at the latter's solicitation took service with the New York Central railroad as engineer in the yards. He has formerly run out of Portland, Maine, on the Maine Central.

The Charleston (S. C.) Evening Post of March 25th states that young George Payne of their county, who is pitching for the Charleston Club of the S. A. League, held Connie Macks, Philadelphia Athletics, down to a score of 5 to 0, in favor of the Athletics on that date. The athletics are the world's champion team and it looks as if our George is some pitcher.

NOTICE

Don't forget the entertainment at the Graded School building, on April the 10th, notice of which appears elsewhere in this issue. This is the third number of the Lecture Course. However, the second was postponed and will be given during the latter part of April. There are three entertainments yet to be given. Season tickets for the remaining numbers may be obtained at Chas. C. Davis' drug store for 75 cents for the three. Buy your ticket and select your seat now.

LIME KILN CLUB. The recently organized club, No. 101, at this place is flourishing. Twenty new members were initiated during the week. Their present quarters are in Kruger Hall. The writer was shown thru the work on Wednesday and he enjoyed it immensely. There are no initiation fees for the first one hundred joining the order. There are now 79 members who live in various parts of the county. We meant to give the names of the officers but are enjoined to secrecy. There is a chief Lineman; a Woodman, Coalman; Shovel; Piker; Custodian (of barrels) Slackman, Driller and Packman. Meetings ever now and then. Are you a "Limer"? If not, get busy and get the pass word and countersign.

To the Women of Rockcastle County:

The Conference for Education in the South will meet this year in Louisville, April 7th to 10th.

This Conference dates a new era in Kentucky history, and the future work will be largely among women.

On the Conference program Woman's problems and the affairs of the home are dominant themes. Homekeeping is the most important of all occupations.

Those in charge want at least two women from each educational division.

Will you not go and get the benefit of exhibits and demonstrations, and discussions.

Sincerely yours,

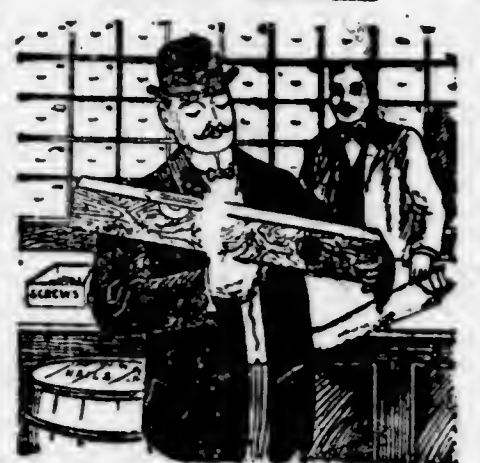

ROSE McCORD, Member of Women's Committee for Statewide attendance.
